R2 Update

New advisories have been published by SERI under the Code of Practices (COP). These advisories are auditable, changing the requirements, meaning, or intent of the current requirements in the Code of Practice. All R2-certified clients should review the advisories for changes, particularly Advisories 12 and 13, which are effective immediately. These two new advisories update outdated references (i.e. replacing “R2 Solutions” with “SERI,” etc.) and also addresses the R2 auditor code of conduct and compliance expectations. Violations to this code of conduct should be reported for investigation and potential disciplinary action.

If you have questions about the updated R2 advisories and how they may affect you or your organization, please reach out to your PJR project manager or call PJR at (248) 358-3388. ♦

Gluten-Free Accreditation

Did you know that PJR is now able to offer Gluten-Free Certification audits? This program offered through the Allergen Control Group, Inc. Upon successfully completing PJR's audit processes, they will be recommended for certification by PJR – following certification the gluten-free brands may use the Gluten-Free Certification Program (GFCP) trademark on their packaging. ## Client Spotlight: ML LifeSciences, LLC

ML LifeSciences

Based in Irvine, California, ML LifeSciences, LLC is a highly-specialized provider of medical devices – especially the sterile filling of growth media for pharmacy use as well as specialty fills of tissue transport media. Working out of their headquarters, ML LifeSciences is a small, family-owned and operated business striving to offer the best quality products in both a timely and cost-effective manner. Without the constraints of a large corporation, they can better offer their customers highly personalized service at every stage of the process.

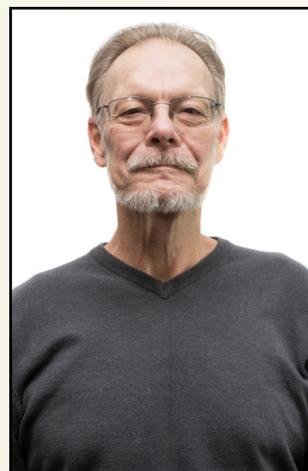

ML LifeSciences, LLC is currently certified to ISO 9001:2015 through PJR, an endeavor they undertook alongside one of their largest customers. “[It was] a unique way we can both represent ourselves individually as well as demonstrate our partnership in quality from beginning to end,” stated Laura Lovely of ML LifeSciences. “[PJR] auditors were knowledgeable and solution-oriented [..] wonderful to work with.” Their certification has helped set them apart from the competition – in conjunction with their State & Federal FDA registrations, ISO 9001 has added customer assurance that the product is being manufactured to the highest standards of quality.

Looking toward the future, ML Lifesciences is working to add additional manufacturing and sterilization equipment. Their sales continue to grow each year and they look forward to seeing new clients and increased business drawn by their ISO certification. To learn how ISO certification could work for your organization, contact PJR at www.pjr.com or call (248) 358-3388 to speak with a representative. ♦

Tribute To: John Wickern

We are sad to announce the passing of John Wickern, one of our Aerospace auditors, on September 18, 2018. His dedication to his field came second only to his devotion to his family, including his wife JoAda. He will be sincerely missed after contributing 14 years of hard work to PJR and forging a strong reputation for friendliness and reliability with his coworkers. Shannon Craddock, PJR's Programs & Accreditation Manager, offered this statement regarding John's impact on PJR: “John Wickern was one of the first recognized aerospace auditors. This itself, and his years of service - working alongside his wife, Joada, is an accomplishment. More importantly, he was a truly great man and devoted husband, who cared about all he did - while auditing and otherwise. I am really lucky to have worked with him. John was always full of gratitude.” Jerry Antonucci, Aerospace Technical Committee Member, offered his own statement – “John was true professional who cared about every auditee, and worshiped his wife, JoAda. He was a great friend and will be missed by anyone who knew him.” ♦
